Notable features:

St. Luke's Clergy House. Late Gothic Revival, granite with stone dressings; side entrance on Rankin Place; main entrance on Carrollton Avenue. The wall along Carrollton encloses grounds to the south of the house. This house should be protected by National Register listing along with the church.

Environmental context:

Integral part of the St. Luke's compound; the garden offers a soft break on Carrollton Avenue. School #182 across Rankin Place to the north is not such a good neighbor visually.
